

Name _____ Class _____ Date _____

1 When you are stating a fact that is in the text, you are making inferences.

- A true
- B false

2 Using clues from a story and information you already know, you make _____.

- A facts
- B inferences
- C flashbacks
- D causes and effects

3 Making inferences is often called "reading between the lines."

- A true
- B false

4 When you go to a birthday party, you can infer that:

- A you will go swimming.
- B you will play a game.
- C you will have birthday cake.
- D you will not have a good time.

5

PREVIEW

Please Sign In or Sign Up to download the printable version of this worksheet

7

George did not want to go fishing. Dad forgot the bait. bad weather caused them to cancel their trip. the boat was not working properly.

- A George did not want to go fishing.
- B Dad forgot the bait.
- C bad weather caused them to cancel their trip.
- D the boat was not working properly.

The reader can infer that:

- A the baby liked to laugh.
- B the baby didn't cry much.
- C the baby was fun to play with.
- D everyone took turns rocking the baby.

9

If a character is yelling, the reader can infer that she is angry.

- A true
- B false

10

Robert worked hard on his Julius Caesar report. He used many resources, edited it several times, and included maps and drawings. He was delighted that his teacher recognized the effort he made.

The reader can infer that:

- A Robert's report was incomplete.
- B Robert was glad when he finished.
- C Robert received a good grade.
- D Robert's report was about Rome.

ANSWER KEY

When you are stating a fact that is in the text, you are making inferences.

- A true
- B false

(b)

Using clues from a story and information you already know, you make _____.

- A facts
- B inferences
- C flashbacks
- D causes and effects

(b)

Making inferences is often called "reading between the lines."

- A true
- B false

(a)

When you go to a birthday party, you can infer that:

- A you will go swimming.
- B you will play a game.
- C you will have birthday cake.
- D you will not have a good time.

(c)

PREVIEW

Please Sign In or Sign Up to download the printable version of this worksheet

- A George did not want to go fishing.
- B Dad forgot the bait.
- C bad weather caused them to cancel their trip.
- D the boat was not working properly.

- A the baby liked to laugh.
- B the baby didn't cry much.
- C the baby was fun to play with.
- D everyone took turns rocking the baby.

If a character is yelling, the reader can infer that she is angry.

- A true
- B false

(b)

Robert worked hard on his Julius Caesar report. He used many resources, edited it several times, and included maps and drawings. He was delighted that his teacher recognized the effort he made.

The reader can infer that:

- A Robert's report was incomplete.
- B Robert was glad when he finished.
- C Robert received a good grade.
- D Robert's report was about Rome.

(c)