

Name _____ Class _____ Date _____

1 Living things compete with each other for the food, space, water and sunlight they need.

- A true
- B false

2 _____ is when two or more living things are in need of the same resource, such as space to live or water.

- A Survival
- B Community
- C Competition
- D Extinction

3 When animals compete for food, there are no losers. Everyone gets some of the food.

- A true
- B false

4 If there are plenty of resources in an environment, there may not be as much competition as in environments where resources _____.

- A are plentiful
- B are limited or lacking

PREVIEW

Please Sign In or Sign Up to download the printable version of this worksheet

7

- A Too much water can kill plants and animals.
- B Plants can grow in dry soil.
- C Floods can bring fish for animals.
- D Many animals can swim.

- A move to other environments
- B grow bigger
- C shrink smaller
- D be hungrier

9 What do we call living things that break down waste or living things that have died in an environment?

- A carnivores
- B producers
- C consumers
- D decomposers

10 _____ occurs when decomposers break down dead animals and waste. This process adds nutrients to the soil which then helps new plants and trees to grow, which then provides food and shelter for other living things.

- A Rain
- B Drought
- C Decay
- D Melting

ANSWER KEY

Living things compete with each other for the food, space, water and sunlight they need.

- A true
- B false

(a)

_____ is when two or more living things are in need of the same resource, such as space to live or water.

- A Survival
- B Community
- C Competition
- D Extinction

(c)

When animals compete for food, there are no losers. Everyone gets some of the food.

- A true
- B false

(b)

If there are plenty of resources in an environment, there may not be as much competition as in environments where resources _____.

- A are plentiful
- B are limited or lacking
- C are all around

(b)

PREVIEW

Please Sign In or Sign Up to download the printable version of this worksheet

- B Plants can grow in dry soil.
- C Floods can bring fish for animals.
- D Many animals can swim.

- B grow bigger
- C shrink smaller
- D be hungrier

What do we call living things that break down waste or living things that have died in an environment?

- A carnivores
- B producers
- C consumers
- D decomposers

(d)

_____ occurs when decomposers break down dead animals and waste. This process adds nutrients to the soil which then helps new plants and trees to grow, which then provides food and shelter for other living things.

- A Rain
- B Drought
- C Decay
- D Melting

(c)