

DRAWING CONCLUSIONS

What is Drawing Conclusions?

Drawing a conclusion is a reasonable decision you make based on facts and details in a sentence, paragraph, story, or article.

When you draw a conclusion, you often use information you already know or have learned before.

Example:

Peter put on his hat, scarf, gloves, and jacket and headed outside to play.

After outs

After
the

PREVIEW

Try

Please Sign In or Sign Up to download the printable version of this worksheet

Sally found a seat next to her classmate in the crowded room. She put down her lunch tray and started to eat. She was so hungry.

Where was Sally?

After reading this sentence, you can decide that Sally is _____.

- a] in the library
- b] in the cafeteria
- c] in the store
- d] in the locker room